RULES

1. Don't hesitate to ask for help if you need it!

We all needed a lot of help when we first started and those of us who have been at this a while still need help. This is one of the main reasons to have this club – to help one another. Don't be shy!

2. Use caution and common sense even when there are no rules covering a situation!

There are many levels of horsemanship and training at these events. You should not only be able to control your animal, but you must be aware of you and your animals' behavior as it may affect the other people and horses around you.

3. Please observe a "walk-only" speed limit for horses in the parking lot area including the road along the parking lot and the arena.

There are many green horses and drivers working by the trailers, let's help them out by creating a "wake-free zone". Boaters will understand ☺

4. Do not overload the bomb-proofing area – no more than one horse per obstacle.

Many of the horses going through the obstacles are green and are reacting (shying, etc.) to what they see. This is the whole point of the exercise. Please leave plenty of room between horses and be careful with the tack you have on the horse that might get caught on some of the hazards.

5. No tying horses in the indoor arena or along the outside rail.

There is too much human and horse traffic for this practice to be safe at these events.

6. Open Driving in the Indoor Arena - use sign up sheets for determining arena use.

There will be a sign-up sheet for drivers to use to determine when they may use the indoor arena. There will be some group driving time (no more than 6 at a time) and some individual time available.

7. Children are welcome, but please supervise your charges.

Make sure your child's activity is not spooking the horses and that your child is not playing in an area where there is horse traffic. We want these kids to grow up to be drivers!
